SHOOTING AT TRENTON

Marshal Dickinson Fatally Shot in Making an Arrest.

NEGRO STILL AT LARGE.

Posse in Hot Pursuit and a Lynching Probable if the Fugitive Is Caught.

All Trenton is aroused over the shooting of John C. Dickinson, city marshal, last Saturday night, by Godfrey Ray, a negro.

John Chestnut, colored, had a quarrel with Ray who, he claimed, knocked him down. He related his troubles to Dickinson, who started with him in search of Ray. The negro was found in the outskirts of Trenton and when approached by the officer, was told that he was under arrest.

Without a word he stepped back, pulled his revolver and fired. Chestnut sprang forward as Ray pulled his weapon and knocked him down.
The shot went true, however, and Dickinson sank to the ground with a bullet through the body.

The negro belongs in Tennessee.
As soon as he fired he ran and made his escape, and went in the direction of Guthrie. Yesterday it was reported that he had been located near Guthrie.

As soon as the shooting occurred Chief Roper was notified and was asked to send the blood hounds to Trenton. Officer Booth Morris and Councilman Armstrong went up at once, taking the hounds with them.
In a few minutes the hounds took the trail of the negro and did splendid work for five or six miles,
but failed to locate the negro.

Marshal Dickinson is a very popular man and great indignation exists
among the people in and around Trenton. A posse was in pursuit of the negro all Saturday night and Sunday, intent on finding him if possible. So enraged are they that every effort will be made to arrest
him, and if they succeed a lynching
on short notice may be expected.

DICKINSON DEAD.

Marshal Dickinson died yesterday morning at nine o'clock. Up to yesterday afternoon Ray was still at large.

Three Hundred Hogsheads.

The local salesmen for the Dark Tobacco District Association reports the sale of 300 hogsheads since last report at satisfactory prices. The tobacco sold was made up of low grade lugs. Sales are still being made about as fast as it can be opened. The organization has most of its good tobacco yet on hand and has no doubt of being able to place it at much better figures than last year. A close estimate of the Dark tobacco in sight in all home markets places the number of hogsheads on hand at 7,000. The Association holds all of it. All tobacco outside of the Association has been bought up at lower figures than asked by the Association. The Association is master of the situation and will take advantage of it.

Divorce Granted.

A decree of divorce has been granted in the Hamilton county (Ohio) Court of common pleas to Mrs. Addie McGehee from her husband, Mr. Morton McGehee, of this city.—Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle.

Wanted at Paducah.

Officers Morris and Merritt arrested Scott Ray, a negro, at the I.
C. depot. He was wanted at Paducah for attempted murder.

Five Arrests Saturday.

The police made five arrests Saturday. Two for breach of the peace, two for drunkenness and one for disorderly conduct.

SETTLEMENTS FOR FIVE YEARS

Council Closes Books of the Late Tax Collector.

BRIDGE TO BE WIDENED.

Several Pavement Ordinances
Passed and Monthly Reports Received.

Much important business was transacted at the meeting of the council Friday night, which was attended by all of the members with the mayor presiding.

The usual monthly reports were received and filed and the regular budget of August, accounts amounting to $397.83, allowed.

Chas. Knight appeared before the council and complained that a pond 100 feet long and 30 feet wide had formed in front of his property and asked that it be drained. The matter was referred to the street committee. Mr. Knight said the pond was due to the change of the street grade and asked that the old grade be restored.

A petition was presented from citizens of the Seventh ward asking for an additional street light on Wes Seventh street. Referred to corporations committee.

Sidney Elliott was granted lunch
room license to operate on Virginia street, a condition being that the door leading into an adjoining saloon be locked on Sundays.

Much time was devoted to discussing street matters and ordinances were passed ordering curbing and pavements, brick or concrete, on north side of West Fifteenth street, west side of Belmont street from seventh to Ninth, and concrete sidewalk on Main street from Eighth to Ninth. All to be done within 30 days.

The settlement made with the administrator of Gus Tandy, deceased,
for tax collections for the five years, 1902 to July 28, 1906, was submitted and accepted by the council. Commissioners Frank Rives and Chas. O.
Prowse were allowed $125 for 25 days
in going over the books and making out the reports in detail. Hunter Wood, Jr., attorney for Wm. Tandy, Admr., paid over $2,201.51 in full settlement and the council ordered all of the late collector's bonds released. The uncollected taxes, amounting to $12,300, will be placed in the hands of H. C. Moore, the present collector. The settlement made by Messrs. Rives and Prowse was the first made in five years and called for an immense amount of laborious clerical work.

Similar settlements have been ordered with L. C. Cravens and Alexander Campbell, previous collectors, whose delinquent books have never been closed.

The matter of widening the Seventh street bridge heretofore laid before the council by Mayor Meacham was brought up and discussed favorably. On motion of Councilman Davis the mayor was authorized to appoint a committee to act with himself in preparing plans for the work and estimating the cost and reporting same to the council. The mayor appointed Councilmen Davis and Armstrong. The heavy stone copings taking up five feet of valuable space will be removed and the space utilized for walks and an iron foot bridge put on the south side of the bridge and iron railings on both sides. It is expected that the cut stone, 2,500 square feet of the finest quality of stone, will sell for almost enough to provide the improvements and add ten feet more of sidewalks.

Mr. Jas. N. From the many liniments I carry in stock, I advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and the first application drew out the inflammation and gave immediate relief. I have used this liniment myself and recommend it very often for cuts, burns, strains and lame back, and have never known it to disappoint. Sold by L. L. ## The Woman Who Walked at Night

(A GHOST STORY)

By M. E. M. DAVIS

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

As Sinclair drew near Mrs. Lawson's house, he slackened his somewhat nervous pace, and halted with an air of indecision. But Mrs. Lawson had caught sight of him from the porch where she sat, with a huge hand-bell on her knee, waiting for her boarders to come home for supper.

There was a shade of embarrassment on his handsome face.

"Mrs. Lawson," said Sinclair, with visible effort, "I came by to see if you would take Katharine and myself to board—"

"In the name of the blessed Lamb!" ejaculated Mrs. Lawson, staring at him over the gate pickets, "whatever has happened? What do you want to go anywhere and board for? Ain't the Catalpas—"

"It is a wrench to me to leave the old place," Sinclair interrupted, "and my father will be very lonely now that my mother is dead. But Katharine has set her heart on it, and if you will take us—"

"I haven't a sign of a room left, Allick," Mrs. Lawson broke in, "except the room on the roof," she added dubiously.

"Well, what is the matter with the room on the roof?" demanded Sinclair, whimsically.

He threw back his head as he spoke, and screwed his eyes up at the box-like structure planted on the roof of the low cottage.

"Nothing," returned Mrs. Lawson, hastily, "nothing at all, except that it is so small. Besides, the stair is like a ladder. Katharine would never—"

"All right; I'll take it at your own price, Mrs. Lawson."

She was very beautiful, the golden-haired girl whom Allick Sinclair had brought, a bride, to his father's house less than two years before. The mysterious malady which developed shortly after her marriage, and which continued to baffle her physician, had robbed her cheeks of their color and bloom. But it added an indescribable charm to her delicate face and fragile figure. An unearthly expression dawned into her large blue eyes—a prescient gaze, as if her vision, like her sense of hearing, had become abnormally acute. Something almost akin to awe filled those around this exquisite young creature at sight of her strange and inexplicable sufferings. She had, apparently, no bodily ailment. But the slightest irregular sound thrilled her with nervous alarm; her attenuated frame shook with convulsions at any unexpected appearance; she paled at a whiff of unaccustomed perfume. She ate but little, and seemed to have lost the faculty of sleep. Lately, a morbid distaste for the old Sinclair homestead had possessed her. She breathed with difficulty within its lofty walls; she was oppressed by the atmosphere of its shadowy garden.

The same night saw them installed in Mrs. Lawson's room on the roof.

The room was small. A four-posted, mahogany bedstead, with baldachin and side steps, occupied at least one-quarter of the floor space.

Sinclair, seated on the side of the bed, smiled as he compared this cramped rookery with his wife's ample dressing-room at the Catalpas. But he felt an unwonted lightness of spirit.

He could see the reflection of Katharine's face in the mirror opposite. She stood with her back to him, brushing out her long hair. There was a look of content on her white brow; he even fancied a touch of color in her lips; her golden hair seemed to have regained somewhat of its lost luster.

"She was right," he thought; "the change has already helped her."

He watched with delight the rhythmic motion of her slender arms. Meanwhile he chatted gayly of his boyhood days, and the recollections aroused by Mrs. Lawson's motherly gossip. Katharine listened, turning from time to time with a nod or a smile.

He stopped abruptly, staring confusedly into space. He passed his hand across his forehead and continued his story. But the words were uttered mechanically. Was there—he was asking himself—was there something moving between Katharine and himself? Something faint and shadowy?—cloudlike? misty? Yes! No. He shut his eyelids tightly and opened them again. Yes! He could see it plainly now, the gray-clad figure of a woman with head drooped to her breast and arms hanging at her side.

"My God!" he groaned, inwardly, "now Katharine will turn around! She will see it! The shock will kill her! She will die! She will drop dead before my eyes!"

"Katharine!" the words burst involuntarily from his lips. He sprang forward with outstretched arms.

"Did you speak, Allick?" asked his wife, looking over her shoulder.

"Yes—that is,—" he stammered, a cold sweat beading his forehead.

The visitor had resumed her ghostly walk.

"Dear Allick," said Katharine, caressingly, "I know you must be tired. I will be ready for bed in one moment."

"She sees nothing! She hears nothing! Oh, thank God!" thought Sinclair, turning his hot eyes from the white-robed figure kneeling in prayer by the bedside to the gray-clad shadow moving up and down the room.

Katharine nestled like a tired child among the pillows and fell instantly asleep. Her husband hung over her in an agony of amazement and incredulity. Could it really be that she was sleeping? Was she not rather dead? Her regular breathing, the smile on her slightly parted lips, the soft abandonment of her limbs reassured him. Yet, how strange! How long since she had slept thus! "Thank God!" he breathed again, drawing the lace netting over her.

Then it came nearer, steadily nearer. He saw behind the veil a pair of dark, sad eyes. A chill sensation quivered along his veins. He struck out savagely—at nothing.

He was awakened by hearing Mrs. Lawson moving about in the hall below. He arose softly and descended the stair.

"Mrs. Lawson," he demanded, abruptly, laying his hand on her shoulder, "is there anything—has anything ever been said about the room on the roof?"

"Don't say a word, Allick," she interrupted in an awe-struck whisper. "I can see it in your face. She hasn't walked before, not that I know of, since my mother saw her, and that was before you were born. I've never seen her myself. I never dreamed that she was walking yet. Lord, what have I done? I didn't want to put you there. Poor Katharine—"

"Don't worry, Mrs. Lawson," he said, kindly. "Katharine has seen nothing as yet; but I have." He smiled grimly, yet with a certain sense of relief. "At least," he thought, "it is not quite madness. What does it mean?" he asked aloud. "Who was it—she?"

"They say," returned Mrs. Lawson, still, speaking in a whisper, "that old Squire Lawson, my husband's grandfather, had that room built as a sort of jail for his young wife, who went out of her mind, poor thing, and no wonder, for the squire was a terrible old man! He took her baby from her and shut her up in that room and kept her there by herself until she pined and died. That was before you were born." Mrs. Lawson was sobbing and wringing her hands. "You must take Katharine Sinclair away before she sees her. It would kill her. But don't say anything about it outside, Allick. My boarders would all leave me. I would be ruined."

Sinclair soothed the excited old woman into quiet. Then he remounted the stair. Katharine, in her white dressing gown, met him on the landing.

"I missed you when I awoke, Allick, dear," she said. "Where were you?"

"Katharine," he began with studied carelessness, "I find this room very small; don't you? And Mrs. Lawson is well-meaning, but she is tiresome, good soul! I think I will look up more comfortable quarters during the day. Can you be ready to leave here this afternoon?"

She placed her hands upon his shoulders and held him at arm's length for a moment without speaking. Her eyes were brimming with mischief; a smile danced about her red lips.

"Allick," she said, "I know why you wish to go away. You are afraid of the woman who walked here last night. Did you think I had not seen her?"

Sinclair's jaw dropped. He stared at her with an amazement which was almost ludicrous. But before he had recovered himself sufficiently to speak Mrs. Lawson came panting up the stair and thrust a pallid face in at the door.

The house was on fire! In an incredibly short time the old wooden building was laid in ashes.

Sinclair and his wife returned to the Catalpas. It was Katharine who insisted, with a sort of gay perverseness, upon this. But even as they passed under the arched gateway the mysterious gloom fell back upon her. Sinclair, now almost as morbid as herself, could have sworn that he saw its descent in visible form. Her hair on the instant became dull and lifeless; her cheeks fell hollow; the red on her lips changed to a gray pallor.

A moth fluttered against her bosom. She fled, palpitating with terror, across the old garden.

Sinclair stood, hardly a month later, looking down on his wife's upturned face. Once more she slept profoundly. A mocking-bird whistled in a catalpa tree by an open window. The stricken man frowned and lifted instinctively a warning hand, but dropped it, remembering.

"What did it all mean?" he questioned, stooping to the face on its coffin-pillow.

The dead lips smiled, but withheld the response.

THE FIRST LETTER

A Woman Writes.

THE FIRST LETTER that a sick woman should write or have some one write for her is to Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., asking him if "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is suitable for her case, and he will frankly tell her so if he thinks it is. He may have to ask some questions before he can be sure just what the trouble is.

If you are suffering from uterine disease the symptoms of which are headache, backache, sideache, pain in various parts of the body, especially in the pelvic region, bearing-down, inflammation, ulceration, then Dr. Pierce will advise you to use his "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" for he has had a wonderful experience in the use of this remedy. It is NOT A PATENT MEDICINE but it is a VERITABLE PRESCRIPTION that became his "favorite" when he was engaged in private practice forty years ago and found that it cured more than ninety-eight out of every hundred of all such cases that came under his care.

The doctor found scores and hundreds of women who were being improperly treated, because their troubles were not understood, and he determined to place this remedy that he had used so successfully within reach of the multitudes who were in such sore need of it.

He made it efficient, agreeable to taste, and, best of all, safe for any woman, old or young, to use. It is neither a stimulant nor a sedative, just a vegetable tonic and invigorating nerve, composed of native roots of remarkable medicinal virtue in the treatment of this class of diseases, and its record of cures makes it a million of cures entitles it to full confidence.

The one medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, the ingredients of which are printed and placed upon every bottle leaving the great Laboratory in Buffalo, N. Y., where it is made, is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It Stands Alone not only in ingredients being known, but also as the only specific advertised remedy for woman's diseases which absolutely contains NO ALCOHOL.

It Stands Alone as the one medicine for women, the makers of which take their patients fully into their confidence and tell them exactly what they are taking. This Dr. Pierce can afford to do, because his "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" is made of such ingredients and after a working formula that has thousands of cures to its credit, placing its merits above criticism.

"I suffered with ovarian trouble for many months until I became quite discouraged, as there was scarcely a day when I was not in pain and my health was simply a wreck," writes Miss Olive Hessler, of Syracuse, N. Y. "I read one of your advertisements and decided that I would try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as it seemed to have helped many who were suffering as I did. I bought relief after using two bottles, and a cure in three months—from what I considered was incurable. I am very grateful, and so pleased with my recovery. Life looks different to me now, and I shall always give the credit where it belongs—to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

THE LAND OF THE BRAZILIANS

The Sensitive Brazilians Do Not Like To Be Called Spanish-Americans—Different From Typical Latin-American Countries.

The particular portion of the globe drawing the eyes of the world for at least an instant's attention is Brazil,
the Pan-American conference in Rio de Janeiro giving prominence to the country called by some one "Portugal's Gigantic Daughter."

You remember—or perhaps you never knew in this age with its so many things to know—that the royal family of Portugal in 1807 fled to Brazil, that in 1815 the colony was declared a kingdom. A few years later the Portuguese court having returned to Europe, a national congress at Rio de Janeiro chose Dom Pedro, eldest son of the king of Portugal, perpetual defender of Brazil, his title now constitutional emperor and perpetual defender. In 1831 Dom Pedro I. abdicated in favor of his son; Dom Pedro
II. reigned until the autumn of 1889.
Dom Pedro II. was a wise and tactful ruler, devoted to the interests of his country, but was dethroned by a successful revolution, he and his family were sent into exile, the empire of Brazil was declared a republic, a republic styled the United States of Brazil.

To-day there are not nearly so many Portuguese as Italians in Brazil; the census of 1900 showed 1,100,000 Italians, the majority settled in San Paulo. In the southern Brazilian states there are very prosperous German and Italian colonies in Rio Grande de Sul.

IN RIO DE JANEIRO.

something like 800,000 Germans. In the seaport towns the principal part of the population is of European descent.

The returns of the census of 1900
were not adopted, considered fallacious
as they reported a decrease in population. The census of 1890 gave the total population as 14,000,000; some over 6,000,000 whites, more than 4,000,000 metis (half-breeds), about 2,000,000 negroes, and 1,200,000 Indians. The population to-day is put, in round numbers, at 17,000,000. The Indian element preponderates in the northern provinces, the negroes are numerous in Rio de Janeiro, Pernambuco and Bahia. Brazil has a larger popu-

BRAZILIAN AMBASSADOR TO THE UNITED STATES.

lation than any country in America
save the United States; less than one-half are whites, one-third are half-breeds, one-seventh negroes, and the Indians are less than one-tenth.

Ethel Armes, writing in the National Magazine, says: "As in this country
so there is in Brazil the same fusion
of races and of nationalities; Italians, Portuguese, Spanish, Germans, Austrians, Scandinavians, Poles, Russians, English and French, of whom the predominating race, in so far as numbers are concerned, is the Italian. There are nearly four times as many Italians as Portuguese in Brazil, notwithstanding the fact that the country was for so many centuries a Portuguese colony,
then a Brazilian empire, and now a Brazilian republic with the Portuguese tongue the official language, and manners and customs and leading families to-day harking back to the mother land of Portugal, as America to England."

Brazilians are not Spanish-Americans, they do not like to be known as Spanish-Americans. "Brazilian" is the only acceptable term.

Brazil is of a bigness, larger than the United States prior to the purchase of Alaska. Bishop Hendrix, of the Methodist Episcopal church, writes of the land as "A Republic in the Tropics;" calls attention to the fact that the wide region is almost wholly in the tropics, and that it is one of the world's largest territories under a single flag. The last to emancipate her slaves, the task was accomplished without bloodshed or without granting compensations to the owners. Immigration followed fast on the emancipa-tion of the slaves, which emancipation was begun in 1871, carried on gradually, completed in 1888.

The immigration to Brazil in 1890 was 200,000, in 1898 it had fallen to less than 60,000, mostly Italians, Portuguese and Spanish. The early privileges offered immigrants brought in such an overwhelming tide restrictions were imposed. The cause of no inconsiderable internal dissension has been the question of showing favor to foreigners. Latin-America sends the most immigrants; the Germans have contributed greatly to the development of their chosen province, and German colonization is a most important feature of present day Brazil; English and Belgian capital has aided greatly in railroad development and growth of banks.

Brazil has had her share of financial problems. The cost to replace slavery by immigration was tremendous.
With the organization of the federal government in 1890 radical changes were made. Revolutionary movements later in the 90's added to the difficulties. But the ship of state has passed through the rough waters, guided by the skillful piloting of President Campos-Salles and other sagacious statesmen. Next November the republic celebrates its seventeenth birthday.
at peace, at home and abroad. Brazil,
unlike certain neighboring states,
courts the friendship of the nations,
labors for peace and continued progress.

Brazil is an agricultural country, as yet undeveloped. Coffee is the chief product cultivated, then come sugar,
tobacco, cotton, mate (Paraguay tea),
india rubber, timber, cocoa and nuts.
The forests and mines are of great value, their wealth not yet brought forward. The industries are cotton spinning and weaving, sugar refining,
brewing, match, paper and hat manufacture. The "strike" is unknown in industrial Brazil.

The constitution of Brazil is modeled on the constitution of the United States, but changed to meet different conditions. One unlikeliness is the rule that no president may succeed himself. The term of the present president, Mr. Rodrigues Alves, expires in November of this year. His administration has been a commendable one,
he has shown special activity in the department of public works.
Among several important improvements should be mentioned the changes in the capital city, the beautifying of Rio de Janeiro. Tree-lined, palace bordered Avenida Central gives suggestion of the modern progress of the nation.

Rio de Janeiro is most picturesquely located, the landlocked bay running far inland, surrounded on all sides by forest-covered mountains. The city stretches 15 miles along the shore, reaches deep into the valleys and climbs way up the heights. Manufactures are not to the fore, commerce explains the city. It has a population of about 800,000. Rio de Janeiro has been the capital of Brazil since the middle of the eighteenth century.

Perhaps one reason we show so much ignorance of the other America,
and of Brazil particularly we speak now, is because of the distance. It is a shorter run from Rio de Janeiro to European ports than to ports of North America. Our country is just awaking to the fact that "Portugal's Gigantic Daughter" is a lady to be paid court by KATHERINE POPE.

HAPPY WOMEN.

Plenty of Them in Hopkinsville, and Good Reason For it.

Wouldn't any woman be happy,
After years of backache suffering,
Days of misery, nights of unrest,
The distress of urinary troubles,
She finds relief and cure?
No reason why any Hopkinsville
reader

Should suffer in the face of evidence like this:

Mrs. John Coombs, of 1226 Virginia street, says: "For a great many years I suffered with a persistent aching across my loins and through my kidneys. At times my back was so bad that I could hardly turn in bed and I could hardly lay on my back at all without placing my hand under it, which seemed in a measure to relieve the pain. A friend of Mr. Coombs told him about Doan's Kidney Pills and then he got a box for me at L. A. Johnson & Co's drug store. On using them I steadily improved until the dreadful aching was relieved and I could attend to my household duties without any inconvenience. They did more for me than any medicine
I ever used and I gladly recommend them."

SKILL SHOWN BY CONVICT

Really Beautiful Works of Art Made by Prisoners in Their Idle Hours.

The convict whose idle hours are, the bitterest of his term of imprisonment must kill time
clandestinely unless the governor or the chaplain is willing to take a very broad view of the regulations in order to help him. Sometimes a skilled workman of an industrious turn of mind will appeal to one or other of these gentlemen to find him some employment for his spare time. Thus a clever wood carver mentioned in a recent report of the prison commissioners was able to present to the chapel a really magnificently carved eagle lectern in oak, entirely the work of his own hands, and done in hours which might otherwise have been spent in solitude and idleness.

An ex-governor of a great prison has in his possession a remarkably handsome sideboard in walnut, which was made for him by a convict of a prison
where he was governor for some ten years. The man appealed to him for some means of killing time, and, knowing the man to be a cabinet maker, he provided him with wood and tools. The sideboard was the surprising result,
and in consequence of it, when the convict took his discharge,
there was a substantial present
from the governor to help him in making a fresh start in life.
Moreover, while thus employed his hand was not losing its cunning nor his mind lying fallow, and his chances of leading an honest life thereafter were therefore greatly increased.

On the other hand, prisoners
have been known to kill time secretly by such melancholy devices as making mats and baskets of straw taken from their beds,
rather than simply sit and brood.
Others have set themselves to count the number of times certain letters occur in the Bible,
with a copy of which every convict is provided, and it is quite a common practice for prisoners to learn whole chapters, gospels and epistles by heart. A certain hardened character once committed to memory the whole of the Old Testament, but the moral good it did him could not have been very great, for two days after his release he committed a burglary, for which he was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

WHY CHANGE IT?

As the Kentuckian sees it, there is no demand for a change of the charter of the Dark Tobacco Association. The old organization was made by the planters themselves and the proposed new one by outside parties is open to many objections that cannot be urged against the present one. The committeemen chosen last week have an important and responsible duty to perform in voting to accept or reject the charter taking the Association out of their hands and putting it in absolute control of a trio of lawyers who have power to buy as well as sell tobacco. The best legal talent available should be called in to examine the charter and aid the planters in properly guarding their interests from the inside as well as the outside.

A young New York reporter is to wed Miss Chandler, a granddaughter of the Astors, who is worth $13,000,000.

They are still having earthquake shocks in Chili and Minister Hicks cables that the suffering is very great and charity is needed to relieve the distress.

Roger C. Sullivan, the Illinois politician, who has called Bryan a liar in the Associated Press, is causing people to ask: "Who in thunder is Sullivan?" Mr. Bryan intimates that he is going to make the mistake of further noticing Sullivan.

The fugitive Chicago banker, P. O. Stensland, has been turned over to the United States officer at Tangier, Morocco, and will be brought back at once. Four deaths have resulted from Stensland's bank-wrecking. Three of his victims committed suicide and another dropped dead when he heard of it.

The nude woman pictures of a patent medicine, suppressed in this city, have been destroyed on the Owensboro bill boards, as a result of the movement started here. The ministers were preparing to take the matter before the grand jury, when the pictures were taken down.

The famous Italian chemist and drug expert, Frederige Cerboni, has created a sensation by openly acknowledging that he has never washed in the seventy-five years of his life. "My mother may have washed me, while I was unconscious of her carryings on, but water never touched my body after I came to my senses," says the scientist. In defense of his anti-wash crusade he quotes de Cordova, the great war hero, who at one time did not separate himself from his clothes for three long years. The order of Peregrinating Hobos will probably deify Cerboni as their patron saint.

The handsome football cover in colors that adorns the September number of the American Boy marks a further step in the very successful effort of the publishers of this magazine to produce what they claim to be "the best boys' paper in the world." The text and illustrations of the number are of the most interesting character. The continued stories by Tomlinson, Stratmeyer, and Alger are the chief features around which the boys' interest will center this month. Other headlines are "The Runaway Pup," an animal story; "The Undertow," the story of a boy's daring; "The Captain's Grit," a baseball story; "A Boy Hero and His Medal," a war story; "Our Pursuit of Old Golden," a hunting story; "The Two Admirals," a story of the ambition of two boys; "The Chase of the Rambler," a sea story; "Mike's Lucky Season," a story of the hunt.

The September Review of Reviews is unusually rich in character sketches. Johnson Brigham tells the life story of Albert Baird Cummins, just renominated for Governor of Iowa; Ralph H. Graves writes of Sir Robert Hart, the Briton who Became a Dictator in China; William T. Stead contributes from his own personal knowledge a sketch of the late South African diamond king, Alfred Beit; while editorial reference is made to the careers of the late Viscount Kodama, chief of the Japanese general staff, and his successor, General Oku.

"TWO TWIRLS OF TERROR."

This is the Startling Title of Barnum and Bailey's New Bicycle Thriller.

In its search for sensational novelities the Barnum & Bailey circus management seems to have surpassed all previous records this year. Instead of one "thriller" of an ultra-sensational character, several are announced, in addition to what is declared to be the best all-round circus that this big arenic organization has ever offered the American public.

One of the newest sensations—and one that seems to have created a great deal of interest in other cities where the big show has been seen this season—is known as the "Two Twirls of Terror." A description of the two climaxes in this startling act discloses some unusually interesting features. After performing a number of novel and unusual exploits upon their wheels, one of the Boller Brothers, the daring bicyclists who perform the "twirls," takes his station, mounted on a wheel, on a small platform at the higher end of a runway. When the signal is given, the rider and wheel plunge down the runway, dart into the air, turn a complete aerial somersault; land on a second runway, and go speeding down to the ground. This, however, is not all. The other brother takes a position mounted at the end of a teeter-board, thus depressing it. The first rider ascends to the apex of a high pedestal, placed over the other end of these saw. When all is ready rider and bicycle drop with terrific force upon the near end of the teeter-board, sending the other bicyclist flying into the air. The latter also turns a somersault and, landing safely speeds down the track. Both exploits are sensational in the extreme, and the furor they create is tremendous.

Another of this year's sensations is known as "The Dip of Death." This is said to be an even more ambitious performance than the "Twirls of Terror," and, as a New York paper recently expressed it, "it is doubtful if human ingenuity and daring can go further in devising acts that combine human and mechanical cleverness, with a danger that just escapes being tragic." In the "Dip of Death" a young and pretty American girl daringly rides forty feet through the air in an inverted automobile. The act is thrilling in the extreme.

The Aerial Tremplin presented by the Steves Troupe; the Imperial Viennese Troupe of Aerialists the Florenz and Grunath families of acrobats; Josie Demott, the only lady somersault rider; a new "Peace" spectacle; all kinds of trained animal acts, and enlarged menagerie, and many other incidental diversions are promised for the big show when it exhibits here Wednesday Sept. 26.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Additional Trackage Beyond River Completed and Turned Over to Company.

There are many things being done and talked about in L. & N. railroad circles that will be of general interest to our readers. The sidetrackage beyond the river has been constructed and turned over to the company. The company will put an operator out there next Wednesday. He will occupy temporary quarters until a roomy and convenient house can be built, which will be done as soon as possible. The company is going to adopt the block system along this division and the wires have already been cut in and the block system will be installed tomorrow. When this is done all train orders, both freight and passenger, will be received and delivered at "Latham Station," as it has been named. There will be no telegraphing done in Agent Hooe's office except for his own special use.

Mr. Hooe seems to be very much elated over the improvements made here. Superintendent Logsdon has been working, assisted by Agent Hooe, all the year to do everything needed to make Hopkinsville one of the best equipped stations on the Henderson Division, and when he builds a shed across the track at the passenger station he will have accomplished what he started out to do. Mr. Logsdon and Agent Hooe are entitled to the gratitude of every citizen.

"Latham Station," when completed will be everything that can be desired. It has been named for our former citizen, John C. Latham, now of New York City, as a recognition of the enterprise and generosity of a man who has done so much for Hopkinsville. We are glad to note this. Our people recognize Mr. Latham's worth. In a property way he is largely identified with our city and always stands ready to lend a helping hand to any enterprise that originates with our own people or anybody else that has a view to Hopkinsville's development.

John W. Logsdon may leave us! That will be bad for us, but it will be good for him—if a rumor proves true. The rumor gained circulation yesterday that the manager of the great L. & N. railroad system had gone with another road and that Mr. Logsdon had been appointed in his place. This has not been confirmed as yet, but Mr. Logsdon's many friends, knowing him to be worthy in every way, and of great executive ability, are prepared to hear of any great advancement by his company; and though they would regret to have him leave this end of the line, they would rejoice at any good thing that should come his way. Active and earnest, always watchful of the company's interest, should the rumor prove true, everybody will be glad for Mr. Logsdon.

Mrs. John Wynn and two sons and Miss Nellie Rice, of Providence, and Mattie Parker, of Earlington, were guests of "Squire and Mrs. Parker, near the city.

HORNET'S NEST STIRRED UP BY NEW CHARTER

Warehousemen West and
Cooper Take Issue
With Mr. Jarrett.

OTHER WARM LETTERS.

Manager Ewing Has Short Statement That Does Not Explain.

The proposed change of the charter of the Tobacco Association is discussed on all sides, since we published it last week. We present several articles today:

EDITOR KENTUCKIAN:—
In your issue of Sept. 8 there appears an interview with Mr. C. F. Jarrett, salesman at Hopkinsville for the Dark Tobacco Association, in which he says: "The cost of selling a hoghead of tobacco is now $1.75, whereas it used to be $6 or $7," evidently referring in each case to the warehouse charge.

Now it is exceedingly strange how a man of Mr. Jarrett's intelligence and close connection with the tobacco trade could make a statement so far from the facts in the case.

The truth is that for ten years or more the warehousemen of Hopkinsville have had a uniform price of $2.50 per hoghead for warehouseing, cooping and selling a hoghead of tobacco.

If the seller wanted his tobacco insured he paid 25 cents per hoghead for the first 60 days and 25 cents per month or fractional part of a month thereafter. So where a hoghead was sold within 60 days from time of delivering the total charge to the farmer was $2.75 per hoghead, not $6 to $7, as Mr. Jarrett states.

In the past fifteen years we have sold for Mr. Jarrett, both as producer and broker, numbers of hogheads of tobacco for which he never paid over $2.50 per hoghead unless there was insurance or reviews on same.

Now let's see what it costs the farmer to sell under the auspices of the Association. To begin with is $1.75 paid the storage house for sampling, cooping and storing, also, 25 cents per month insurance and one per cent. commission on the gross amount the hoghead brings, paid to the Association. Assuming the time the insurance is carried to be 60 days, and that the price obtained is $115.00 per hoghead, we have $1.75 plus $.50 plus $1.15 making $3.40 per hoghead the cost for selling through the Association, as compared with $2.75 per hoghead through the regular warehouses, and in this charge I have said nothing of the 24 bundles of tobacco taken from each hoghead prized, and turned in to the Association, which the farmer loses and the Association gets.

Mr. Jarrett speaks of the one per cent. commission as though it were an insignificant sum, barely enough to pay expenses. Yet if they sell 35,770 hogheads, as he claims, this one per cent. will cost the farmers approximately $41,135.50. This should buy postage at least.

We have no bricks to throw at the Association, but certainly no legitimate business needs to be bolstered up with such misstatements in regard to the business of other people.

JAS. WEST,
R. E. COOPER.

MODESTLY DRAPED.

Bill Posters Evade Prosecution by Covering Up Advertisements.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 8.—The Owensboro Bill Posting Company Friday pasted the most modest and unassuming posters obtained over the "woman in the moon," whose raiment, or lack of it shocked Hopkinsville's mayor, Owensboro ministers, and others interested in a discrimination between art and indecency. The ministers of Owensboro had appointed a representative to go before the grand jury to secure indictments against the bill posters, but a compromise was reached in the removal of the pictures.

A FARMER WANTS TO KNOW

If the Charter of the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia Supersedes the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association of Kentucky and Tennessee.

MR. EDITOR:—
Under the date of Sept. 1st, you published the charter of the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

The above styled corporation was organized on the 8th day of May, 1906, with the following three lawyers, (not farmers) as incorporators, viz: J. E. Garner, Jr., S. F. Davis and S. Walton Forgy. The total capital stock of this corporation is only $200, divided into 200 shares of par value of $1 each.

"The nature of the business, and the object and purpose proposed to be transacted, promoted and carried on by the corporation, shall be to BUY, OWN and SELL TOBACCO of all kinds, and to act as agent in receiving, storing, insuring, handling, selling and re-selling, (speculative accounts) and otherwise dealing in tobacco on commission or otherwise."

The officers, C. H. Fort, president; E. T. Bondurant, vice-president; N. E. Green, secretary; Geo. Snadon, treasurer, and F. G. Ewing, general manager.

Now, what I want to know, and what every tobacco grower has a right to know. Does the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia supersede the organization that we farmers organized when we met at Guthrie, Ky., Sept. 24th, 1904, and drafted a constitution for an organization to be known as the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association of Kentucky and Tennessee?

We now call on President C. H. Fort and General Manager F. G. Ewing, (as they are the officers of both Associations) to publicly explain the relationship of each corporation to the other.

The constitution of the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association provides, (Section 2): "The object of the Association shall be to assist each member in grading and selling his tobacco." (Section 8), provides, "This Association is being organized and OFFICERED ALONE for the protection of the tobacco planter."

We have placed our tobacco in the hands of this corporation for sale, being assured that 70 to 85 per cent. of the crop of the dark tobacco district is under its absolute control, trusting all to our General Manager, F. G. Ewing. Now why should he and our other officers, when they already have 85 per cent. of the crop in their hands, organize the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, whose purpose is to buy, own and deal in tobacco?

From whom does General Manager F. G. Ewing, of the P. P. A., Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, expect to buy tobacco? Except it be from the General Manager, Ewing, of the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association of Kentucky and Tennessee.

Why does the P. P. A., of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, have a capital stock of only $200?

Who are the holders of that stock? Why does he not permit the farmers to elect the directors?

As the laws of Kentucky require each director to be the holder of three shares, and as he proposes to have 42 directors, (126 shares) three incorporators, 9 shares, and five officers, fifteen shares, making a total of 150 shares, or three-fourths of the total number (200) shares of the capital stock, what is to prevent this Board of Directors from being a self-perpetuating body? No matter who holds the remaining 50 shares, as the stockholders only, have a right to vote.

We ask Mr. Ewing if he can consistently occupy the position of Gen. Mgr. in our company where the farmers have unreservedly placed their tobacco for sale? And then organize another company for the purpose of buying and dealing in tobacco.

We must confess that it is straining our confidence too far. But this second Charter was kept in the dark.

The possibilities of fraud are too great. We are not willing to have our business transacted under the Second Charter and we now call on all members of the Dark Tobacco District Planters' Association, to demand that our business be hereafter transacted under the provisions of the original constitution of the Dark Tobacco District Planters' Association of Kentucky and Tennessee, as drafted at Guthrie, September 24, 1904.

Do not desert the ship but court martial her officers.

I. G. SALLEE,
Trigg county. Caledonia, Ky.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the Farmers and Tobacco Growers that Have Pledged Their Crops, Either for One or Three Years

To the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia.

You who have pledged your crops for sale, unreservedly in the hands of the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, have a right to be and ought to own at least one share of the capital stock of said Association. Therefore you should demand that the capital stock be raised from 1,000 to 25,000 shares and that one share be issued to each farmer pledging his crop, (no farmer has a voice or vote in control, unless he has one share), and that each farmer so pledging his tobacco crop shall have the right to buy two more shares, making a total of three shares, which gives him enough to serve on the directory should he be elected. Also that no stock should be sold or issued to any one except he be a farmer, and under no condition could any one stockholder own or possess more than three shares. Hold the control of the stock in the hands of its members. All employees should be paid salaries, and the dividends derived from commissions should be paid to all members on their one or three shares of stock.

You should have your very best men from each county member of directors. You should demand that any officer or director, that should have any interest or connection with any firm, individual or corporation that is a buyer of or dealer in tobacco, that he should immediately sever his connection with and resign his place as director—or position as officer of the Dark District Tobacco Planters' Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia. Therefore you should see to it, that any officer or stockholder of the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia (an organization to buy, own and deal in tobacco) is debarred from any connection with your association, or wherever there is an employee you should see that he has no joint account with said corporation, firm or individual. Your officers, graders, warehousemen and salesmen should be men of unquestionable integrity and where any one of these known to have been connected with, in the past, any doubtful transaction they should be immediately discharged.

Your storage or warehousemen, should be the direct representation of the farmer, and as such should have the right to jointly pass on the grading and classing of tobacco with the graders with the right to reject whenever grading or sale made was not in his judgment enough price for the tobacco entrusted to his care in his storage house. Your storage or warehouseman should be required to report what grades your tobacco was placed and price immediately to the owners of the tobacco so, each could have time to instruct whether he accept same or not.

There should be some direct responsibility to the farmer, some one that is individually responsible. The one to whom he can go and discuss the question of price and quality of his tobacco.

See to the election of your County Chairman next Saturday Sept. 8th, and elect a man that will carry out your instructions.

FAIR PLAY. EWING EXPLAINS.

Throws Little Light on the Change in Charter.

My attention has been called to a vast deal of curiosity as to why the Planters' Protective Association should see proper to make a change in its charter. In the first place, I would say that the Executive Committee is looking forward at all times to the betterment of the interests of the association, whether legal or commercial, and it is our constant effort to strengthen the association in all departments.

First the contemplated change means to make everything more binding by every improvement that we can see, and of which we can avail ourselves as we go along.

Second, for the annexation of Virginia. The fact of three lawyers being the incorporators signifies nothing. Any three citizen could have incorporated it. No change is thought of in the conduct of the business and the association will have no interest in any warehouse.

Much that is said about this is an effort of our enemies, our strong competitors, to injure the association, but this like every underhand method which has been adopted, will prove a "boomerang" to utruthful men and further cement the association.

General Manager.

TERRIBLE ITCHING SCALP HUMOR

Badly Affected With Sores and Crusts—Extended Down Behind the Ears—Some Years Later Painful and Itching Pustules Broke Out on Lower Part of Body—Son Also Affected.

A TRIPLE CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"About ten years ago my scalp became badly affected with sore and itching humors, crusts, etc., and extending down behind the ears. My hair came out in places also. I was greatly troubled; understood it was eczema. Tried various remedies, so called, without effect. Saw your Cuticura advertisement, and got them at once. Applied them as to directions, etc., and after two weeks, I think, of use, was clear as a whistle.

"I have to state also that late last fall, October and November, 1904, I was suddenly afflicted with a bad eruption, painful and itching pustules over the lower part of the body. I suffered dreadfully. In two months, under the skillful treatment of my doctor, conjoined with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, I found myself cured.

"Six years ago my son was laid up with a severe cold, a hard cough, and finally painful eruption all over the body. I procured the Cuticura Remedies as soon as possible, and after his faithful use of same was as well as ever in two weeks, as well as I can recall. He has never had a return of the illness, as far as I know.

Woodmen Banquet.

Neither Eureka Camp, of Madisonville, nor the wood choppers of Hopkinsville, will soon forget last Saturday night. The visitors came in on the 5:18 p. m. train Saturday and met with the city members of the order and put on the "protection" or insurance part of the work of the order. They wore their uniforms and are as nice a lot of young men as can be found anywhere. About 11 o'clock, after the work in the lodge room had been completed the visitors were the recipients of a banquet at the Innovation cafe. It was a sumptuous repast and the evening was most enjoyable to the visitors and hosts. The members of the order left for their homes at 9:40 Sunday morning. During their stay here they were entertained by the local camp and said they had a royal time.

TOBACCO MEN

Elected Officers for County Committee Saturday.

As announced in Saturday's paper, the precinct committeemen met here on that date to elect a chairman, vice-chairman and secretary. Mr. W. W. Radford was elected chairman for another term; Judge W. T. Fowler was elected vice-chairman and W. A. Glass secretary for another term.

The question of a change being made in the charter of the association was brought up and Mr. R. E. Cooper was requested to address the subject. The new articles of incorporation are exciting considerable interest, and in view of the situation Mr. Radford agreed to accept the position, thought he expects to soon change his residence.

A Scientific Wonder.

The cures that stand to its credit make Bucklen's Arnica Salve a scientific wonder. It cured E. R. Mulford, lecturer for the Patrons Husbandry, Waynesboro, Pa., of a distressing case of piles. It heals the worst burns, sores, boils, ulcers, cuts, wounds, chilblains and salt rheum. Only 25c at Hardwick's drug store.

A Sonnet.

A sonnet is made up of fourteen lines—
One Shakespeare loved in sonnet form to rhyme.
Let Bacchus sup his ancient nectared wines,
Our Bill would rather scribble any time!
And I, tho' not a Shakespeare or a "Bac",
Take some delight in whittling out my verse!

'Tis true my halting stanzas sometimes lack
Of inspiration—but they might be worse!
No quiet nook in shaded vale is mine.
I work where cinders fill the air, and smoke
Just filters by along the penciled line,
And funny smells waft in—and beggins' to choke!

I write to fill this hole and not for fun—
And now I guess, by heck, this sonnet's done!

A Man's Friends.

Hicks was back from the muskal-longe country flushed with success. In a box on the way to the club rested, as he believed, four fine muskies that tipped the scales at an average of 22 pounds each. At the club the scoffers waited, incited to bantering and doubting remarks by Bings, who had accompanied Hicks on the trip and who seemed, at times, to illy conceal some great secret that had a laugh cracker on its tail. When the boy arrived, the "to-be-shown" club men gathered about, while Hicks ordered the porter to bring the nail-puller.

"I tell you," exclaimed Hicks, with pride, "one of those 20-pound muskal-longe gives a fellow a pretty tough fight in deep water. I know I worked over 40 minutes on the gamiest one of this lot."

Just then the lid came up with a rip. The gang rubbered to catch a sight of the big fins.

Instead of the 20-pound muskies there reposed innocently in the middle of the box on top of some rocks and moss, four dried herring.

Hicks bought, but to this day Bings insists he doesn't know anything about who changed those fish or what became of the big catch.

Journalism.

Newspapering in a yacht.
In which many are called, but few are chosen.

Not the newspaper idea, but a superfluous word in the dictionaries. Rare samples of the real thing may occasionally be seen in the great cities.

An excuse for publishing a yellow newspaper.
Something for the preachers to criticize!

A subject on which newspaper men are little posted.
A bluff that sometimes gets free theater tickets.

That state from which a magazine writer has graduated without receiving a diploma.
When a boy we hoped to be its exponent. Now we know better.

Southwest

The Land of BIG CROPS and PROSPERITY.

Are you making as much off your farm as you ought? No doubt you are making all you CAN. The trouble is the land costs too much. It takes too much money to buy a big farm, and so you are trying to make a living on a small farm, or perhaps you are renting one and paying a good share of what you raise, in rent. Wouldn't it be better to go where the price of good land is so little that you can own a big farm—where every acre of the ground is working for you and all you raise is paying you good profits?

There are thousands of acres of fertile land in the Southwest along the line of the Cotton Belt Route that can be bought for from $3 to $10 an acre. This land is increasing in value each year.

See the Southwest at Small Cost.

A trip to the Southwest would convince you that our best interests lay in settling there. The trip can be made at very little expense. On the first and third Tuesdays of each month you can purchase a round trip ticket to any point in the Southwest on or via the Cotton Belt Route at very low rates. Stop-overs will be allowed for you to examine any locality you are interested in. Write at once for free copies of books describing this wonderful country and for full information about cost of tickets, etc.

700 STUDENTS WANTED

To qualify for the 700 or more desirable positions that we will be called upon to fill in the next year. We had 624 men call in the past year.
Our graduates are in such great demand by business men because we train them more THOROUGHLY than other schools train their graduates.
QUALITY counts with the shrewd business men of this day and age. If you are unwise enough to cheat yourself by taking a cheap, short course at some school of questionable reputation, you can not, with such an equipment, induce a business man to cheat himself by giving you a job.
Our honorable career of forty-two years appeals more strongly to business men when in need of competent stenographers and bookkeepers than all the clap-trap under the sun.
You get a GOOD reputation by attending this school, and we make you do THOROUGH work, with the result that you will be wanted by business men when you graduate. Enroll as soon as possible. Ask for elegant 68-page catalogue.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 7.—In the presence of his wife and several occupants of the house, Harry B. Pyne, senior member of the firm of Harry B. Pyne & Co., machine manufacturers, and a prominent worker in fraternal circles, committed suicide in his room at the boarding house of Mrs. Emma Purdon, 22 Caldwell street, at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning. He first attempted to end his life by shooting himself, but this proving unsuccessful he crawled to the dresser, and, seizing a razor, cut his throat. It is believed that when he committed the rash deed he was temporarily demented as the result of ill health due to kidney trouble and insomnia.

Great Reduction In Prices of Wall Paper

Nobody is absolutely infallible. We all make some mistakes. One of our mistakes of last season was buying too much wall paper.

We want to turn our surplus stock into cash for two reasons, viz: We need the cash and want to make room for the new fall stock. In order to do this,

We will for the next ten days, beginning Monday, July 16, sell everything in the WALL PAPER line at greatly reduced prices.

We mean business.
